Instruction designed to meet your needs:

At my golf course facility I am able to fully address a variety of learning situations. This is important because a comprehensive improvement plan should include all aspects of the game.

Instruction is available for:

full swing | chipping | putting | pitching
playing | bunker | pre-shot

Private Individual Lessons

This is the traditional approach to learning the game. Individual instruction based on the abilities and needs of the student. The learning process is often enhanced through the use of:

1. Video
2. Training Aids
3. Drills

Group Lessons

Perfect for persons who enjoy a shared learning experience. Somewhat individualized instruction based generally on the same theme for all participants.

Playing Lessons

This is the best way to isolate areas of your game that need attention. Where better than the golf course to learn to play golf!

Swing & Play Programs

The best of both worlds...combine playing and sessions at the range for a more complete instructional approach.

Short Game Schools

2-1/2 hours in a learning/coaching situation at the practice facility - 4 people.

The Individual Learning Program

This approach to improving is based on a season long commitment by both teacher and student. Sessions will be scheduled one each week for a predetermined period and may last 1 to 2 hours each and shall include Play on the Course as well as Coaching at the Practice Facility.
